Told By a Laramie Man.

The Strange Way in Which He and His Arabella Were Reunited.

He was born and brought up in Laramie, Wyo., and so was Arabella. Arabella is my wife. I had known her all my life and had always loved her, and she had done the same by me, and the course of our affections ran as smooth as molten metal. In 1899 I decided to marry her, and the day was set for April 25, and we invited all our friends and looked forward to happy but commonplace wedding.

"Just one week before the ceremony I was called up to North Dakota on a business matter which I did not think would detain me more than three or four days.

"Arabella did a little weeping on my shoulder, womanlike, and said, 'What if you never come back?' But I said, 'Now you know perfectly well that I always have been as regular as clockwork. It's only a few hundred miles away, and I'll be back and we'll be married exactly at 4 o'clock on April 25, and it will be the least exciting and yet happiest wedding that ever took place.

"I went up to North Dakota and the last ten miles of my journey I was making on foot. While I was walking along it began to snow, and inside of an hour a blizzard was raging, and I had to put in for shelter at the house of a lone stranger named Smithson, who kindly gave me supper and told me that it would be suicidal for me to go any farther, that the Dakota blizzard, the last one of the season, but perhaps the worst, was upon us.

"When can I return?" said I. He told me that if the blizzard was a real energetic one it would be two weeks before I saw home and mamma. You may imagine my feelings. Hundreds of miles from Arabella with less than a week intervening before our marriage, and no way of getting word to her! Of course she would think me faithless.

"I told the stranger my troubles, and he sympathized with me, but said that no human being could live out in that storm, and when I looked out of the window I believed him. It was terrific. I had been in the New York blizzard of 1888, and it was a sultry summer's day to this one.

"There was nothing to do but to grin and bear it. Maybe it would stop sooner than my friend thought. He might be an alarmist, but it grew worse, and by next morning it seemed to be only just beginning to get low that I'd hesitate to say just what the thermometer recorded for fear of being considered an exaggerator. The snow fell at the rate of a foot an hour on the level. The house was soon covered up, and we were not smothered in a tin ventilator that ran fifty feet up in the air for just such an occasion.

"Not to make a long story, it was five days before the snow stopped, and then we were snowed in to the teeth or fifty feet. And we were down to our last loaf of bread. But the thing that worried me most was the fact that it was my wedding day. I sat in the pitch darkness, for our oil had given out, wondering what Arabella would do when I didn't turn up. Suddenly we heard a voice coming down the ventilator. Smithson groped his way to it.

"Who's there?" said he.

"It's the parson. Have you food enough?"

"No, indeed," said Smithson. "We are down to our last loaf. How are you able to be about, parson?"

"Why, this is the queerest storm that ever happened. All Dakota north of us is covered, but yours is the last house in the track of the storm. South of here the ground is perfectly bare, so I hatched up and brought some provisions along and drove to the edge of this mighty snowbank, and then I put on my snowshoes and climbed up. It's lucky you had such a long ventilating pipe. How are you going to get out? Shall I drop some food down the pipe?"

"Smithson told him that we not eaten anything for ten hours, and we were beginning to get up an appetite, and the next minute a bundle of pork and beans was dropped down to us.

"If you can tunnel south of your house for 20 feet, you'll come out on clear country. I'll go home and get my shovel and dig toward you, and you ought to get out soon."

"Smithson thanked the dominie, and we tackled the baked beans, and they tasted like Neapolitan ice cream. Then we felt like working. But I was feeling pretty serious, because I knew that Arabella was beginning to worry. However, I fell to with a good will, and after two hours of hard work we met in the snow tunnel, the minister and me, and a minute afterward we walked out to open air and saw the strangest sight that could be imagined.

"North, as far as the eye could reach, the country lay covered fifty feet deep with an Arctic snowfall. South of us the grass was just beginning to show green, and skunk cabbage were slowly pushing up through the earth. And in front of us stood the parson's lonely house, with a box of a church next door to it and not another building in sight.

"We grasped the parson's hand and told him he was a white man if ever there was one; and then I asked him what chances there were of my being able to get back to Laramie.

He told me that the road to the station was completely blocked, and it would be two days before I could get through. Two days! I instinctively pulled out my watch. It was 3.50. "Ten minutes, parson," said I, "my wedding will be due in Laramie, and Arabella is even now waiting for me."

"He was expressing his sympathy when we heard a roaring noise, and Smithson said: 'Run for your lives! A cyclone!'

The three of us instinctively dived into the snow. Then we heard a muffled roar, and the earth shook and it was all over. Just to make sure, we lay in the snow for a few minutes, and then we crept out. Such a scene as met our gaze! The church and the parson's house were the only movable things that hadn't moved. Trees were leveled on all sides and the plain in front of us were full of debris from various States.

Just in front of me were half a hundred crates of eggs, whipped to an omelet by the wind, a bunch of bananas, a white horse and a library of books labeled Chicago, New York, and London. I sat in the snow bank was a woman in a gray travelling dress. The parson pulled her out, wondering if it was a neighbor, but I, catching sight of her face, recognized her as Arabella! And she, in her wedding dress, my friend!

"Of course the next day's papers all over the country had full accounts of the awful cyclone that had struck Laramie and had run northeast into the Dakotas, but not a word about Arabella except the fact that she was missing and her mother was frantic.

"Now you may say that it was her woman's love that guided her on the back of the storm to where I was, but even if so it was a remarkable occurrence.

"In a minute she opened her eyes, and then she sat up, and then she saw me. She was always quick to take in a situation, and she held out her arms to me. I kissed her just once for luck, and then I looked at my watch. It was 3.50.

"Parson," said I, "the church is standing." "—(Denver Post.)

"Don't Speak to me."

All manner of extravagant expressions are possible when a woman's nerves are overwrought. The spasm at the top of the wind pipe or bronchial tubes, "ball rising in the throat," violent beating of the heart, laughing and crying by turns, muscular spasms (throwing the arms about), frightened by the most insignificant occurrences—are all symptoms of a hysterical condition and serious derangement of the female organs.

Any female complaint may produce hysterics, which must be regarded as a symptom only. The cause, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which acts at once upon the organ afflicted and the nerve centers, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms.

Mrs. Lewis Says: "I Feel Like a New Person, Physically and Mentally."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For years I had ovarian trouble and suffered everything from nervousness, severe headache, and pain in back and abdomen. I had consulted different physicians, but decided to try your medicine, and I soon found it was giving me much relief. I continued its use and now am feeling like a new person, physically and mentally, and am glad to add one more testimonial to the value of your remedy."—Mrs. M. H. LEWIS, 2108 Valentine Ave., Tremont, New York, N. Y.

Writing to Mrs. Pinkham is the quickest and surest way to get the right advice about all female troubles. Her address is Lynn, Mass. She advises women free. Following is an instance:

Mrs. Haven's First Letter to Mrs. Pinkham.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I would like your advice in regard to my troubles. I suffer every month at time of menstruation, and flow so much and for so long that I become very weak, also get very dizzy. I am troubled with a discharge before and after menses, have pains in ovaries so bad sometimes that I can hardly get around, have sore feeling in lower part of bowels, pain in back, bearing-down feeling, a desire to pass urine frequently, with pains in passing it; have leucorrhoea, headache, fainting spells, and sometimes have hysteria. My blood is not in good condition. Hoping to hear from you, I am," Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (June 8, 1899.)

Mrs. Haven's Second Letter.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for what your medicine has done for me. I suffered for four years with womb trouble. Every month I flowed very badly. I got so bad that I could hardly do my work. Was obliged to sit or lie down the most of the time. I doctored for a long time, but obtained no relief. I began using your remedies—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier, Sensitive Woman's Liver Pills—and now feel like a new woman."—Mrs. EMMA HAVEN, 2508 South Ave., Council Bluffs, Iowa. (Feb. 1, 1900.)

$5000 REWARD

Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing, we have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, Mass., which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonial is not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission.—LYDIA E. The music was given by the school. The rain was very welcome for it was much needed.

Hamilton-Whittemore.
The marriage of Alroy Thaxter Hamilton of Auburn to Sadie Abby Whittemore of Hebron was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Abbie S. Whittemore, Wednesday, June 25, at a half after seven o'clock, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. F. E. Newport, pastor of the Congregational church of Oxford. The ceremony was performed in the presence of immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties, the ring service being used.
The wedding march was from Mendelssohn and was played by Edith M. Whittemore, a sister of the bride.
The bride was ushered in upon the arm of her oldest brother, Samuel J., who gave her away. The party was further attended by M. Helen Smith as bridesmaid and Horace K. Whittemore as best man, both of Auburn.
The parlor, in which the ceremony was performed, was filled with beautiful flowers, and a horseshoe of white roses was suspended from the evergreen arch under which the bride stood during the taking of the vows. The whole house was open and prettily decorated.
The bride was attired in white organdie muslin gown with Hamburg insertion, the finish of the corsage and skirt with lace-plaid edged with white baby ribbon. A handsome bouquet of bride roses was carried. The bridesmaid was becomingly dressed in white muslin over light blue. Light refreshments were served. The presents were many and beautiful.
After refreshments the bride exchanged her toilet for traveling. Her suit was of light brown. The couple was accompanied to Auburn where they took the Pullman for parts unknown. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will make their home in Auburn.

Among the out of town guests in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hamilton, Mrs. W. A. Knight, Ivis Hamilton, Charles Chadey, Grace Whittemore, L. E. Rich, H. K. Whittemore, M. Helen Smith and Yerna M. Whittemore.
